PA NEW OBSERVES

Yesterday was another one of those days when the temperature remained almost constant, an unusual case. There was only two degrees difference in the temperature from 9 o'clock Friday morning and 9 o'clock this morning.

It begins to look as if the Cathedral will be the scene for a number of fellowship banquets this spring. On January 15 school teachers of the city, Ellwood City and the county-at-large are to gather there for a strictly social evening, and now plans are afoot for a dinner, for fellowship purposes, of all the service clubs in New Castle. It will probably take place in March.

They haven't been there since last year, but they're going back Monday. The school students, we mean. Today ends the holiday vacation.

PA New hasn't seen so much of that new United States money in circulation—many who've laid hands on the new issues are keeping them for souvenirs.

The Paths Of Glory

Night Appearance Of President In Congress Records Strange Scene

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—A strange and glittering pageant was recorded on the screen of American history today.

It was the picture of an American president calling congress together in extraordinary night session for the first time in the life of the nation to deliver his opening address.

In this picture was the silver-tongued orator, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, speaking under the cruel white blaze of a single giant Kleig light to an assembled congress which heard him with a sharply contrasting mixture of riotous applause and glum silence.

Both sides of the packed house chamber rose and applauded for three full minutes when the president entered on the arm of his eldest son James. When he left, the (Continued On Page Two)

(BULLETIN)
ROME, Jan. 4.—An Italian war plane brought down in flames yesterday at Costa, on the northern Ethiopian front, and its crew of two were killed, the government announced officially today.

This was the fifth crash of an Italian plane in Ethiopian territory admitted by the government since the outbreak of hostilities. Four of them were on the northern front.

Whereas the initial crashes received only minor notice in the Italian press, the last two have been heralded widely, and the allegedly brutal slaying of the pilots has been stressed along with editorialized pleas for drastic "retaliatory" action against the Ethiopians.

This has led to the belief among neutral observers that a major Italian drive is imminent.

Pinchot Boosting Borah's Campaign

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 4.—Former Governor Gifford Pinchot arrived in Pittsburgh today to beat political tom-toms booming United States Senator William E. Borah, for the Republican nomination for the presidency of the United States.

Coming here from Washington where he yesterday conferred with the Liberal Idahoan, Pinchot, twice governor of the Keystone state and himself an Independent Republican, expressed confidence that "there is no reason why the Republicans cannot win the coming election if they do what is necessary to win it."

Congressmen And National Leaders Disagree On President's Address

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Democratic leaders in congress today pronounced President Roosevelt's annual message a masterful document, while Republicans attacked it as the first speech in his campaign for reelection.

The Republican progressives, some of whom supported Mr. Roosevelt in the last election, were divided in their estimate of the address.

The president's cabinet members all spoke of the speech in glowing terms.

Calls It "A Stump Speech"
Senator William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, a potential Republican presidential candidate, called the annual message a "stump speech," while Senator Vanjerberg (R) of Michigan called it the opening of a campaign "which is going to be hot, rabble rousing and intolerant."

Secretary of State Hull said "I can only describe it as excellent," while Attorney-General Cummings said "it was one of the greatest addresses."

"The speech brought out vital points well and clearly," said Secretary of the Navy Swann.

Democratic Leaders View
Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the senate, said:

"The message is confined to a discussion of the 'state of the union' and leaves for future occasions specific suggestions touching legislation."

"There is emphatic declaration for continuing the policy of neutrality respecting present and threatened wars between foreign countries."

Speaker Byrns of the house said: "It was a magnificent message and put the issues clearly before the people."

Garner Silent
Vice President Garner declined to comment, saying he was following custom.

Others said:
Senator Barbour (R) of New Jersey: "he announces himself a candidate for reelection in the best bedtime story on the state of the union ever delivered."

Senator Townsend (R) of Delaware: "it was a great bid for reelection."

Senator Logan (D) of Kentucky: "it was a clear statement of the issues in the coming campaign."

Senators Copeland (D) of New York and Byrd (D) of Virginia, refused to comment.

Rep. Maury Maverick (D) of Texas: "I think it was a...of a good speech—good because he showed fight."

"Let Them Come On"
Rep. O'Connor (D) of New York: "it was a fighting speech—such as (Continued On Page Two)"

While the newly elected board of county commissioners has been silent on any information as to what changes might be made on court house hill on Monday, there seems to be a fairly well founded opinion prevalent that there will be few changes than was first anticipated.

When the board organizes on Monday it is likely that George H. Bolinger will be named chairman of the board. This would follow out the custom of electing the man who received the most votes as chairman. Following the same tradition Floyd L. Cotton would be elected secretary.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 4.—Loosening of ice in the Monongahela river today sent the waters to a height of 18 feet at the "point" in Pittsburgh but weather bureau officials said there was no danger of a flood and that waters were already receding in the upper Monon valley.

A further rise of several feet may occur today before the crest is reached but the waters will not approach the flood stage of 25 feet at the "point," the weather bureau said. Ice in the Allegheny held tight although a rise was also registered there.

Officials at the airport weather bureau said a rain now sweeping across Ohio would reach Pittsburgh this afternoon and would be followed by snow.

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Because a woman, the wife of a union official, "didn't duck fast enough," her husband told police today, she was riddled by a shotgun blast intended for him last night.

An outbreak of labor trouble was blamed for the murder by police, as they questioned the husband George Henneman, secretary-treasurer of the painter's union, and James Dugan, business agent of the union.

"Driving east, I was forced to the curb by two men in another car," Henneman told police. "When one of them jumped out with a shotgun in his hands, I realized they were trying to 'get me' and I slid to the floor."

"I yelled at Elsie to duck, but she didn't move fast enough."

The blast from the shotgun passed over Henneman's head and the full charge struck his wife. Death was instantaneous.

Local Opinion On President's Address

Wide divergence of opinion followed the address of President Franklin D. Roosevelt to Congress on Friday night. Gathering opinions at random reveals a three way division in New Castle. Active Democrats lauded the address as "wonderful, inspirational, clear cut" and similar adjectives.

Active Republicans attacked the address terming it "political, unadorned, beneath the dignity of a president," and the like. People who are not active politically expressed themselves as "disappointed at the lack of statesmanship," expressed. A few opinions of various people follow.

William R. Hanna, chairman of the Democratic County Committee. "It was a good address, one that was inspirational although not too specific in spots."

DINNER PARTY MARKED SUCCESS

Butler county members of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, A. A. S. R., provided the entertainment for the New Year's opening party in the Cathedral last evening, which was attended by around 500 members of the Masonic body which is seated here. In addition, many of the members from the neighboring county attended the event, which was one of the best parties presented in some time.

The headliner on the entertainment program was John Krisko, Butler banker, whose hobby is magic. He was aided by his two attractive daughters in presenting a program of exceptional merit. Mr. Krisko has studied under many European magicians.

Mrs. Albert Stone, talented reader, also gave several interesting numbers.

A splendid dinner preceded the program in the auditorium, which was featured by pep singing, led by Red Williams, aided by Judy Sypher at the piano.

And those clues sent police on a search for a mysterious woman—the woman who summoned him on a fake call to administer to a "sick child" late Thursday night; the woman he was heard wrangling with in his parked car on a lonely, deserted street in the northwest section of the city.

The physician's body was discovered late last night. A bullet had been fired through his forehead and his skull was horribly crushed by blows from a pistol butt or a hand axe. His body was stuffed in the tonneau of his auto, covered with his overcoat. The door of the auto had been slammed on one of his hands. He had been dead about 20 hours, police said.

(International News Service)
Startled by the bluntness of President Roosevelt's attack on "aggressive autocracies," the old world eagerly watched today to see which nations would, as the presidential message said, "fit this shoe" to their feet.

In Rome, Berlin, Tokyo, and Moscow there appeared to be little doubt among unofficial observers about the identity of Mr. Roosevelt's cinderellas, whose No. 11's are slipping easily into glass slippers, but into military boots.

Chief interest centered in the speech as coupled with new neutrality bills. In London the press hailed this as the "greatest development in the international situation in weeks," and both London and Geneva saw the Pittman-McReynolds measures as positive aids to the application of further sanctions against Italy.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The American Red Cross today denied any connection with the Red Cross station about a mile from Daggah Bur, Ethiopia, bombed early this morning by Italian war planes, according to information received by Red Cross headquarters here.

A spokesman for the American Red Cross declared:

"We have no personnel in Ethiopia."

"We know that some Americans who were in Ethiopia as missionaries before the war organized an Ethiopian Red Cross at the outbreak of hostilities."

"However, we don't even have their names here and we have no reason to have them or any information on the station."

The Red Cross station which was bombed was thought to be the one formerly in charge of Dr. Robert Hockman, an American physician recently killed by an Italian bomb.

Armed Secret Service Aces Seated In Crowd On House Floor

ALL ADMITTANCES MADE BY TICKET

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The greatest precautions since World War days were taken to protect President Roosevelt on his visit to the Capitol to deliver his opening message to congress. Two hundred policemen, detectives and secret service operators guarded him at the Capitol. Several unprecedented acts of precaution were taken. One was the stationing of William H. Moran, chief of the secret service, in a front row aisle seat on the floor of the House, beside a senator, where he commanded a full view of the galleries behind the president. He carried an automatic pistol in his hand, which he adroitly hid under his crossed legs. Another secret service man was seated in the front row of the press gallery, directly above the president. He commanded a view of all other galleries. He too was armed, a pistol bulging in his coat pocket. Sixty-five city policemen and thirty Capitol policemen guarded every approach to the building. They admitted to the Capitol grounds only those persons, bearing tickets of admission to the House.

CONGRESS HEARS UNIQUE SPEECH

mediately assailed it as a "political hippodrome," a "stump speech," and his "bid for re-election." It differed widely from any other president's annual message in that it failed to treat with current issues, except neutrality. On this score the president declared forcibly for a permanent law that would keep America out of foreign wars.

The Republicans, after hearing the president, were divided on the subject of replying to him. Republican Chairman Henry P. Fletcher announced the nation-wide broadcasting companies would give the minority party four fifteen-minute periods at different times for replies to the president's one hour national hookup. The Republicans were demanding a single hour's national hookup so one speaker could reply to the president.

May Use Four Speakers

Rumors prevailed that if the four fifteen-minute periods are given the Republicans for their reply, four different speakers will be used. The four, most frequently suggested for this purpose, were Senator Lester J. Dickinson, of Iowa, Rep. Bertrand Snell of New York, John Hamilton, of Kansas and Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr. of New York.

The Republicans were well aware the president had carried his fight for his recovery policies right up to their doorsteps. They also realized that if the public reacts against those policies, he had left a door wide open for a retreat by later on projecting new issues into the 1936 campaign. So far as congress is concerned, it hasn't the slightest idea what he proposes to do in the future.

LOCAL OPINION ON PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

tee, "I didn't hear the address. I had more important things to do. I had a dinner engagement. From the comment I have heard it was about as heavy as we could expect."
Former State Senator George T. Weingartner: "It was an undignified address for a president of the United States. In a rambling fashion he defended the foreign policy of the nation, then made a plea to the jury of public opinion in defense of his policies as president. There was no justification for him to hold his address until the evening and then broadcast it to the nation at large. It was political in its essence."
Dr. John A. Meehan: "I think the presidential address was a splendid one. He leveled off a lot of his critics and got off to a good start on the next campaign."
Attorney Charles H. Young: "Under the guise of an address on the State of the Nation the president made a political address. Such tactics do not become the head of this nation."
Attorney Charles R. Davis: "It was a political harangue, but as such it was very good."
Attorney H. A. Wilkinson: "I thought the address a wonderful one. The president expressed himself in a clear cut fashion and presented the policies of his administration in a fine way."
T. H. Hartman: "I thought the address was a good stump speech."

ANTAGONISM TO CONGRESS SPEECH REFLECTED ABROAD

ship—ruled countries skipped the president's biting remarks on that subject, but it was evident in semi-official quarters that his words did "not prove popular." The following International News Service dispatches from major capitals tell of the world's reaction to the message:

LONDON—President Roosevelt's speech will have immense weight at the meeting of the League of Nations council in Geneva January 20, it was felt in Whitehall today, and usually legislation will make possible not only imposition of an oil embargo against Italy, but still other sanctions on key products later.

In spite of the apparently iron-clad provisions of the neutrality bill, Britain still hopes that loopholes, in the event of the general conflict that the president warned against, will be found to make possible discriminatory embargoes.

GENEVA—Unused to straight-forward speaking, League of Nations officials who sat up until 4 o'clock this morning to read President Roosevelt's message were shocked, but generally pleased by its tone.
Authorities expressed the hope that congress will rush through neutrality legislation for, despite Mr. Roosevelt's implications of non-cooperation with the league, the embargoes called for by the bill will help the league to cut off Italy's oil supply.

ROME—Premier Mussolini today conferred with regional directors of the Fascist party, reportedly instructing them to tighten up measures to resist sanctions, as President Roosevelt's criticism of "nations jeopardizing world peace" reached official quarters but not the public.
The message to congress was published briefly and without comment, and all references to dictators and armed force were omitted.

BERLIN—Sounding the key-note for the nation, Dr. Goebbels, Nazi mouthpiece, bitterly attacked President Roosevelt for his bias against dictators of Europe, and defended dictators as necessary following the World War peace treaties. It was hinted President Roosevelt was defending himself against "the suspicion of dictatorship" in his own regime.

PARIS—President Roosevelt's speech to congress was splurged under double-column headlines in the French press today, and in the newspaper Paris Soir shared honors with a two-column story about Josephine Baker, colored dancer, having been turned away by New York hotels because of her race.

All newspapers pointed out the seriousness of the president's warning to Europe and termed his remarks on foreign affairs the most significant American utterance since the days of Woodrow Wilson.
"The United States' neutrality policy is not international cooperation but isolation," said the Paris Midl.
The United States has not the spirit of the League of Nations covenant. It seems to condemn even a war of self-defense."

MOSCOW—The Soviet press was silent and the government refrained from commenting officially on the Roosevelt address, but neutral observers believed the government-controlled press would not overlook it as an opportunity for another attack upon capitalism and a contrasting defense of Communism. Soviet editorial writers habitually allow several days to elapse before commenting upon world events. No effort is made to hurry editorial opinions into print.

TOKYO—Japanese government leaders today declined to make immediate official comment on President Roosevelt's indictment of "nations seeking expansion, seeking the rectification of injustices springing from former wars, or seeking outlets for trade, for population, or even for their own peaceful contributions to the progress of civilization."
It was apparent in semi-official circles, however, that the Japanese were not pleased with the remarks of the presidential address, and that they felt again they had been "misunderstood" in the west.

ROME, Jan. 4.—Premier Benito Mussolini today reported concerned over Roosevelt's bold attack on foreign autocrats as peace jeopardizers, and was believed planning an inspired counter-attack through the Italian press.

This press was ominously silent today, but all signs pointed to powerful blasts tomorrow.
It was called in his under-secretary for foreign affairs, Fulvio Suvich, and presumably discussed in detail President Roosevelt's attack on such forms of government as Italy's.

Although the American president of course mentioned no names, Il Duce was pictured in authoritative quarters as ready to pick up the gauntlet himself.

NIGHT APPEARANCE OF PRESIDENT IS STRANGE SCENE

Democratic side stood, roared approval, clapped and whistled.
The Republicans strolled silently from the chamber.
Once, Republicans laughed out loud at their president. That was when he referred to the "state of the union" as the subject of his message.
Mr. Roosevelt paid little heed. But his hand on the rostrum tightened, and the famous Roosevelt smile disappeared from his face. Otherwise, he gave no immediate recognition to the laughter. But when he left the chamber, the smile had not come back. He silently shook hands with Vice-President Garner and Speaker Byrnes and left, paying scant attention to wildly applauding Democrats.

ROOSEVELT GIVES FEW PROPOSALS TO U. S. CONGRESS

foot into the shoe of his vigorous condemnation of the events overseas which he asserted are pushing the world perilously close to another general war.

Hits Political Opponents
Here at home, the President slashed out at his political opponents and demanded that they offer a definite set of substitute proposals for the administration policies they have been attacking. He promised that the substitute palliatives would get a vote in Congress.

No names were called abroad, but there was little doubt that the President had Italy, Japan and Germany primarily in mind when he asked Congress for new and more far-reaching neutrality legislation.

No names were called domestically, but it was obvious that Mr. Roosevelt was paying his respects to the Republican party, the American Liberty League and the minority within his own party when he called on administration critics to cast off "the cowardly cloak of generality" and submit a program of their own.

Takes Issue with Court

The President further went so far as to indirectly take issue with the United States supreme court, which has been rather consistently voiding the key pieces of his recovery program. He did this by suggesting that "Congress has the right and can find the means to protect its own prerogatives."

The President's message was about equally divided between a discussion of the menacing situation abroad and, to him, the menacing political situation at home.

The international situation apparently impressed him most gravely. The only specific recommendation he made for legislation was a neutrality bill which would implement of war to all belligerents and forbid the shipment to them of raw materials "above our normal exports . . . in time of peace."

Attacks 'Selfish Groups'
But Mr. Roosevelt, facing the microphones that carried his voice to an inestimable domestic audience, minced no words in attacking "the hatred of entrenched greed" and the "selfish groups" which he asserted are trying to tear down a structure from which they have benefited.

As predicted otherwise, the President's message carried no particular surprises. He reported that no new taxes would be necessary so long as Congress kept within existing law. He said "We approach a balance of the national budget." He promised that federal relief would continue where necessary, but that a reduction in such expenditures was at hand. He reported that national income has gone up for the third successive year, indicating that "agriculture and industry are returning to full activity."

Only once did the Republicans cheer during the address. That was when the President, the precedent-breaker who was again breaking precedent, expressed the hope that the work of balancing the budget would continue to go forward. Senator Byrd (D) of Virginia, known as a conservative, joined in this applause, and this marked the only time the Virginian took the trouble to cheer his chief executive during the speech.

nounced several days ago as the chairman of the dinner program and he announced today that a well known speaker was being contacted for the dinner. In addition the speakers' table will include County Commissioner-elect Joseph A. Hanon, Councilman-elect J. Myron Rice, Assemblyman W. J. Erce and James B. Kelso, County Chairman W. R. Hanna and Tad E. Shields of New Bedford.

In a message to President Findley K. Boyd, National Chairman James A. Farley stressed the importance of the Jackson Day dinners throughout the nation. "There are four reasons why these dinners should be well attended by Democrats," said Mr. Farley. "First, a good dinner in the midst of your friends and neighbors; second, a pledge of party loyalty; third, an opportunity to make a small contribution to the war chest for the campaign of 1936; fourth, an opportunity to hear a personal message from President Franklin D. Roosevelt."

SMOKING HEATER CAUSE OF ALARM

It was the first meeting of the class in 1936 and proved an auspicious start into the new calendar of activities. Miss Mary A. Good, the president, appointed new committees for the year. The devotional program was in charge of Mrs. S. J. Rawle. The members learned the names of their "rosebud sisters."

A particularly enjoyable part of the program was a beautiful solo by an accomplished pianist and special guest of the occasion, Miss Lena Richards. Mrs. Carl Groetsch of Pittsburgh, was an out-of-town guest.

TAXED FROM EVERY SIDE

WRITING in Nation's Business, Mark Graves, New York state tax commissioner, has some important things to say about the spread of taxation as it affects business concerns.

"A rough count in the spring of 1935," he declares, "shows 883 instances of double taxation between the federal and state governments. In 1932 there were 326 such instances. . . . It would be quite possible that a corporation doing a nationwide business might have to file reports or pay taxes in 191 different instances in a single month."

Obviously, this condition, until remedied, is bound to stir the hospitality of business men toward all forms of taxation. Beset from so many different angles, the average industrialist naturally becomes disgusted with the fiscal set-up and starts viewing the tax collector as a veritable ogre.

Not only tax reduction but tax simplification is needed by way of freeing economic activity from the strangling effects of diversified levies. As things now are, a business executive can scarcely turn around without being confronted by a demand for money with which to finance extravagant bureaucratic structures that stand in the way of a profit. He is literally taxed from every side.

SO HE CAN LOOK THEM IN THE FACE

A curious reversal of the usual order is revealed in the case of a grocer in a nearby state, who, retiring from business, has cancelled all the debts owed to him by his own customers. Some of them date as far back that they are obviously uncollectable. Others are of a more recent period. But in every instance he has wiped the slate clean.

The reason he gives is at least original. He wishes to be able to look his debtors in the face without embarrassment.

It might have been supposed that the condition would be reversed, and that the debtors would sink around the corner to avoid meeting their creditor.

Is it certain that some of them will not feel uncomfortable even after this act of oblivion? He will look them in the face; but will they look him in the face?

STATUE OF LIBERTY STILL STANDS

The celebration in New York marking the opening of the golden jubilee year of the Statue of Liberty has its prophetic as well as retrospective aspect. The celebrants seemed to have confidence that notwithstanding the numerous assaults on American liberty during the past few years, the famous statue is likely to continue for some time to exemplify a firmly founded principle. The more venerable Liberty Bell in Philadelphia is also carrying on as vigorously as ever.

It has been reported that at the outbreak of the World War some new cracks appeared in the great pyramids of Egypt, thus confirming the opinion of those curious students who believe that there are lessons for the times to be read in those impressive monuments. Close examination shows that the Statue of Liberty is still solid. If there were any cracks they must have disappeared after some recent supreme court decisions.

POTENT INDUSTRY

That the automotive industry is a leading factor in the economic life of the nation is emphasized in a report just released by the Automobile Manufacturers' Association.

It is therein revealed that the industry absorbs 23 per cent of the total output of iron and steel, 75 per cent of the rubber supply, 77 per cent of plate glass production, 39 per cent of the lead, 33 per cent of the nickel, 22 per cent of the copper, 16 per cent of the aluminum, 15 per cent of the zinc and 20 per cent of the tin.

Since the statistics for motor vehicle manufacture are the most encouraging in several years, it is apparent that numerous contributory industries likewise must be experiencing a sizeable business improvement.

No doubt the circumstance of chief importance in this favorable trend is the mounting need for replacements. Thousands of people who had "let the old car do" during the depression have suddenly entered the buying market, and it is indeed gratifying to know that their purchases are spreading industrial benefits along so wide a base.

SCIENCE IN CRIME DETECTION

Criminals, who have employed many of the discoveries of modern science in the perpetration of their crimes, must be met by equal, if not more refined, developments in the science of detection. In no field is there greater need of scientific achievement—few places in which science can serve society better than in the detection of criminals.

Science was drafted into the war against crime many years ago. In recent months, however, there have been developments constituting highly efficient and priceless contributions to the cause of law enforcement.

In many instances criminals have employed machine guns, radio, telephone, chemical phenomena, the automobile and the airplane with greater skill than the law enforcement officers on their trail. Devices, which federal and local police agents were not permitted to use, frequently have been employed by criminals.

Thus, law enforcement agencies have come to recognize the great importance of using exact, scientific methods in their work and science itself has been challenged to keep several paces ahead of the criminal in the development of new methods.

Among the most recent devices announced by the scientific world as an aid to law enforcement is the mechanical eye, which can see past events. It is made by use of the spectograph, with which astronomers recognize the different kinds of atoms on distant stars. It does this by breaking down the light rays into the colors of the rainbow and of photographing the lines which compose these colors. It reveals the "fingerprints" of all the known chemical elements and makes a distinct picture of any piece of evidence desired.

This is only one of many valuable contributions of science to the art of crime detection. It places detection on a more firm basis, making it an "exact" science with which criminals will hesitate to deal.

Huey Long's Ghost.
Mussolini Explains.
Hitler Says Forever.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE IMPORTANT question for Democrats now is: "Can we, who are alive, beat Huey Long, who is dead, in Louisiana on January 21?"

If Long were living, there would be no question about his ability to dispose of Louisiana as it might please him.

If the dead do return, as alleged by spiritualist friends, there will be one active, much-analyzed ghost present at every important meeting during the campaign.

His name will be Huey Long. With Long dead and in his grave it will be an interesting fight between the living administration and a ghost.

MUSSOLINI'S government says it is bombing Ethiopians with more energy than usual because the Ethiopians captured two Italian aviators who fell as Dagah Bur, "cut their heads off and carried them in triumph to Harrar." Mussolini does not like that.

The important fact is that in future air raids, hospitals, churches, red crosses on roofs, venerable monuments will not turn away bombing planes.

Mussolini declares that on the appearance of Italian planes Ethiopian chiefs hurry to the nearest Red Cross station for protection.

The English, horrified by Italian bombing in Ethiopia, would be interested, if they have forgotten about it, to see photographs of one big Egyptian city after British warships had finished its bombardment. It was an exceptionally complete job, nothing left standing.

THE CHAMPION WHO QUIT

Talked to a man yesterday who mentioned casually that he used to be interested in rifle and pistol shooting.

So interested, in fact, that for two years, quite a while ago he was the rifle champion of the United States. But now he doesn't shoot at all. hasn't shot for years.

I asked him why he stopped.

He said it was because he took it too seriously. Finally began to hate it. It took too much out of him. He should have been using in one of the other sections of his life. . . . He was on top, but in order to stay there he had to give practically all his spare time—and much that was not "spare"—to it. . . . Hours every week-end, half an hour every day, to practice. Half an hour at a time holding his empty rifle in position on a target, holding his breath, pressing the trigger. . . . It became a nightmare. Finally wasn't any fun.

He'd started rifle shooting for fun, found he was good at it, found that was fun, too; but he quit when the fun went out of it. . . . He balanced the pride he must have had in being such a good shot against the strain and pressure of maintaining his accuracy and abandoned the shooting for something else.

Now he plays golf and has other recreations, but he told me he's never going to take golf seriously as he did rifle shooting. He's going to keep it a game, he's going to leave the fun in it as long as he plays it. . . . And never again is he going to let anything that isn't the most important part of his life hog all his time and thought and take command of his life.

A wise man. . . . Far wiser than most of the rest of us. He possesses that valuable secret of keeping his life in proportion, in balance, of taking nothing seriously that is not a central part of his existence and essential to his happiness.

There are unlimited opportunities to give unusual effects to the various rooms of your house by choosing material for your window draperies to suit particularly the room in which each set is to be used.

An excellent choice for bathroom curtains is white Turkish toweling edged with a fringe that will properly carry out the color scheme of the room. Another novel suggestion for your bathroom is to have your shower curtain and your window draperies of a matching shade of gayly-colored rubberized taffeta.

Your kitchen may be given a distinctive effect by the use of window curtains of checked gingham of a color to harmonize with the room. Pink and white or blue and white checked gingham will be likewise appropriate and attractive for slip covers and window draperies in your nursery.

Methodist Youths Gather.
Ponder Economic Issues.
Conflicting Views Shown.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 4.—Young people of the Southern Methodist church, South, have been holding a general conference in Memphis—over in Tennessee, across the Mississippi river from Arkansas. Those who attended the conferences in past generations surely must be startled over some of the statements.

For here we have the Rev. Dr. Edwin McNeil Poteat, Jr., pastor of Pullen Memorial Baptist church, of Raleigh, N. C., an outstanding clergyman, attacking the profit system, asserting that profits are based on competition and that a co-operative system, in line with Christianity, should be established, abolishing profits.

"The combines peg prices and exploit labor to make profits," Dr. Poteat declared. "They have 80 per cent of the people of the world living either on charity or credit."

"We cannot be reminded too often that profit does not mean wages; and that all the business in the world could operate successfully without the fact or the motive of profit."

"The Christian would say to a profit-seeking economic order that economic structure of the world ought to be built on the principle of co-operation for the good of all, instead of profit for the few. Competition stands opposite to co-operation. One is pagan, the other is Christian, and the choice that must be made is a simple one. That means an order of economic life based on use instead of profit is of the essence and spirit of Christian idealism."

ALL NOT AGREED

All at the Memphis conference were, of course, not agreed.

For example, the Rev. Dr. Rembert Gilman Smith, pastor of the Methodist church at Pryor, Okla., sent a pamphlet of his to the conference entitled "Methodist Reds."

"The basic dogma of these Methodist reds is that the profit motive is not morally valid. The Methodist Federation for Social Service publishes a monthly bulletin, and at its masthead are the words, 'For the abolition of the profit system.'"

"This federation is making open and incessant war on American capitalism in its essence and not merely because of its abuses. They deem it to be incurable. Believing with firm, if not fanatical conviction, that it should not cumber the ground, they are laying all the axes they have with all the strength they have, at the roots. They well know that there is a vast number of Methodists who do not accept their European economic dogmas and that their use of their positions in the church to promulgate them will most certainly distress and divide the church, but this restrains them not at all."

THOUGHT CHANGING

The conference was the first general meeting of the young folk of the Southern Methodist church since a general conference held in 1925 in Memphis.

The rapid spread of broader economic and social views in the south was especially marked.

The church, no less than the political and economic world, represents two widely conflicting views these days.

Whatever may be the outcome, these young folk—of from 16 to 23—will be leading factors in determining the course of the south during the next two decades.

AIDS F. D. R.

Alfred E. Smith's continued hostility to President Roosevelt aids the president in the south. There seems little doubt of that. Smith was one Democratic candidate the south could not swallow.

Now that the leading southern political figures are in the Roosevelt camp (whether they like his ideals or not), there is no one to hold the southern Democratic legions in line for Al. Those who gave him support once as titular head of the Democratic party simply ignore him.

Herbert Hoover probably could get more votes in the south today than Al Smith.

The real factor that President Roosevelt has to face is not attacks from Al Smith, but the Borah candidacy. Southern "radical" forces would swing in quickly behind Borah, provided Borah could find a solution for the AAA.

Today's Yesterdays—Jan. 4, 1752.—Benjamin Franklin's first news of the nudist wedding in America. It took place at Frederick, Md., to which the couple had eloped late at night.

That was the kind of news Benjamin Franklin ran in his newspaper. So you're wrong if you believe that elopements to Maryland "marriage mills" or nudist weddings are something modern.

Jan. 4, 1838—Charles S. Stratton was born in a New Hampshire farm. He was 17 and two-feet tall when P. T. Barnum named him Gen. Tom Thumb and started making him world famous. He was 25 when he wed Lavinia Warren, another mid-get, in a wedding that got more attention in newspapers for a week than the War Between the States, and Mrs. Stratton bore him a normal-sized child. He lived to be 45 and a millionaire.

Sunday's Yesterdays—Jan. 5.—Name day of St. Simeon Stylites the Elder, who is believed to have been born about 338 in Syria. Jan. 5, 1778—Floating mines were used for the first time in an American military history. Patriots at Bordentown, N. J., filled kegs with powder and fuses, sent them floating down the Delaware River toward anchored British warships.

One struck drifting ice, exploded and started the British wildly shooting at everything floating in the river. They continued for 24 hours to the enormous amusement of the Americans, who didn't fire a shot. This inspired Hopkinson's famous poem "Battle of the Kegs".

125 Years Ago Today—Cyrus Hamlin was born in Waterford, Me. He went to Turkey at 26 as a Congregational missionary, and remained there 23 years. The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE POSTMAN

Sitting in the press box of a Baltimore stadium during a football game, Mrs. W. M. Hopkins, Roland Park, Md., suddenly remembered she had an important letter in her pocket unmailed. Just at that time a well-groomed man was preparing to leave the game.

"Won't you be kind enough to mail this letter for me?" Mrs. Hopkins asked of the man who looked honest enough to her to be trusted with her letter. The stranger very graciously accepted the letter and promised to mail it promptly.

It was Postmaster General James A. Farley he had selected out of 64,988 persons at the football game to mail her letter.

pared his report for the month of December. It shows that he inspected five wagon scales, and adjusted two; eight platform scales, three adjustments; six spring balances, all correct; thirty computing scales, ten incorrect. All of 265 liquid measures were found to be correct; also all of 115 oil pumps. Of 85 gas pumps two were found incorrect and fifteen needed adjustments. According to word received here a force of jail inspectors have set sail from Harrisburg, and one of them may be expected in Lawrence county most anytime. The inspectors will nose around the jails to find out if there are any bedbugs, roaches or other vermin lurking within their walls. None will likely be found in the Lawrence county jail as Sheriff Pritchard has a patent atomizer filled with "plizen," which has cleared the jail of all vermin. The inspectors will also turn their gray matter loose on fire hazards, sanitary conditions and so forth. They won't likely bother with the grub as there is a woman who comes around once a year and tells the sheriff how to prepare dainty dishes for the inmates. So far there hasn't been any finger nail inspectors around, but one may be looked for at any time.

Janitors Clifford James and E. C. McCracken have court room No. 1 looking spic and span for the ceremonies next Monday morning when the newly elected county officials will be inducted into office. ## Widespread Damage By Swollen Rivers In Eastern Section

Rivers Start To Recede Today,
Hundreds Are Made
Homeless

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—Receding flood water of ice jammed rivers and streams in southeastern Pennsylvania today left widespread property damage and hundreds of homeless.

Delaware and Schuylkill rivers and streams everywhere in the area raged over their banks last night, flooding homes, closing roads and, in conjunction with fog, endangered shipping in the Delaware Bay.

Families Marooned
Twenty families were marooned in the low lying Eastwick section of this city. They were rescued in rowboats as were 12 other families living on an island at Morrisville.

Before it began to recede, the Delaware reached its highest flood mark since 1904. At Trenton, directly opposite Morrisville on the Delaware, water flooded Stacy Park back of the state house and threatened the city's water supply.

All along its path from Norristown to the spot where it empties into the Delaware in southwestern Philadelphia, the swollen Schuylkill leaped its banks causing heavy property damage, inundating Fairmont Park drives and flooding summer cottages along its banks.

December Marked By Low Temperature

Unusual Amount Of Snowfall
Is Also Recorded On Closing Month Of Old Year

December proved one of the coldest winter months in many years, being marked by an extreme deficiency in temperature as well as a great amount of snowfall.

The average high temperature for the month was only nine tenths of a degree above the mean temperature, the figures of Weather Observer B. F. Johnson reveal. The snowfall amounted to 15.3 inches.

The summary for the months shows the following:
Mean maximum, 31.7 degrees,
Mean minimum, 18.7, mean or average temperature, 25.2 degrees. The highest temperature was 50 degrees on the 9th, while the lowest was 7 below zero on the 31st. The greatest daily range was 32 degrees on the 31st. The normal temperature for December is 30.8 degrees, a deficiency of 5.6 degrees per day being noted.

The precipitation for the month was 2.78 inches, an excess of .20 inches, the normal for December being 2.58 inches. The greatest in 24 hours was .42 inches on December 14. Days with .01 or more inches of precipitation were 26; days clear, two; days partly cloudy, 12; days cloudy, 17.

In December of 1934, the temperature average was 5 degrees below normal, while the precipitation was .39 inches under the normal mark.
There was 4.3 inches of snowfall, the amount this year being eleven inches more than a year ago.

Hearing Tuesday For Two In Raid

Charges Made Against Men
Nabbed By Police; Mooney
Waives Hearing

Alderman Wallace J. Ewing today set Tuesday, January 7 as the hearing time for two of the three young men which Chief of Police John F. Haven and city officers nabbed in a raid Friday at a hideaway moonshine plant in a vacant house on West Laurel avenue, just off Wilmington.

One of the trio, Harry Mooney, 81
Morris street, waived a hearing shortly before noon and posted $1-500 for his appearance at the March term of court. Charges of possession of liquor unlawfully acquired and the unlawful manufacture of it had been placed against him.

Joseph Santo, 81 Morris street, pleaded guilty to the unlawful manufacture of alcohol, and not guilty to a charge of possession of liquor unlawfully acquired and the possession of unlawful liquor, when arraigned last night.

Kenneth Walker, East Main street, pleaded not guilty to all of those charges.

Bail for Santo and Walker was set at $1,500 each, and the Tuesday hearing date set. They had not provided the amount and were in the county jail today.

Government operatives were in the city today investigating federal and state angles of the case.

SLOVAK SOKOLS WIN

Slovak Sokols defeated the Wampump A. C. last night at the Slovak hall 47 to 38, with Kirol, Kulha, and Slovenick the stars for the Slovaks and Eversole the best for the losers.

"Summer Rush" At Pants Co. Plant

Force Working Full Time On Clothing Designed For Next Summer Wear

While you are still looking around for a few more heavy clothes to combat the winter winds, there are folks in the county who are more interested in summer clothing and this doesn't mean people going south.

The National Pants company plant on the Butler road is now into its summer rush and the entire force of 500 is working full to turn out the orders for light weight and light colored trousers.

All during the winter weather the plant will be turning out these summer garments according to Leo Pilser, the manager of the plant and by the same sign, when the thermometer is up to 90 in the shade next August they will be turning out heavy clothes for the winter.

Every machine is whirling out at the plant and huge boxes of finished product bound for cities far away testify to the industry of the employees.

Auto And Truck
In Collision On
New Bedford Road

Sedan owned and driven by Sam
Cloia, 328 Phillips street, this city, and an International truck, owned by the Yankee lines and operated by Ralph Piper, Ashland, O., were badly damaged this morning on the three-way section of the New Castle-New Bedford highway. Cloia received bruises of the head in the accident.

According to the State Highway patrol Cloia was driving west and the truck was being driven east.

Piper applied the brakes to the truck for the purpose of shifting into low gear to descend the nearby

State Street hill. The truck skidded across the road and struck the sedan operated by Cloia, the patrol reports.

Covelli-Carik Stars Of First Section Victory

New Castle "Red Hurricanes" Get Away To Impressive League Start

CLOSE GUARDING FEATURES GAME

New Castle High School "Red Hurricane" basketball team got away on the right foot last night in the opening of the Section Three W. P. I. A. L. race by walloping New Brighton High under a 28 to 15 count. The game was played before a small crowd at George Washington High floor. Domenick Covelli and Johnnie Carik were the big scorers in the lineup of the Bridenbaughs.

The first period of the game was a see-saw affair with first New Castle and then New Brighton leading by one or two points, and at the close of the first stanza the New Brightonians had the lead at 8 to 7. Johnnie Carik had all of the seven points made by the Castle in the first period. Carlo Miller and Kredel did the scoring for the Bridenbaughs.

Fine Guarding
Toscano and Covelli turned in a great exhibition of guarding in the second period to hold the visitors scoreless from the field while New Castle was hanging up 12 points through the brilliance of "Jap" Covelli and Grommes, aided by Carik and Mumford. New Brighton's lone point was a foul attempt. The score at the half was 19 to 9 in favor of New Castle. The lead of the Bridenbaughs was never to be threatened again.

Covelli-Carik Stars
Domenick "Jap" Covelli and Johnnie Carik with nine points were easily the outstanding stars of the engagement, the former boy started his first game as a guard and judging from his exhibition of scoring ability and aggressiveness last night will be hard to keep out of the regular lineup. Emil Grommes played a fine game also, making two nice field goals.

Kredel, Carlo and Miller looked the best for New Brighton, with 14 of the points. The New Brighton team last night lacked the dash and pep of the other New Brighton teams.

Ellwood Next
It was the sixth straight victory for the New Castles and the next home game was announced with Ellwood City on Saturday night, January 11 at Washington High.

Gross receipts of the Stanford-Southern Methodists game at the Rose bowl, Pasadena totaled $235,000 of which the net profit was $210,000. Each team will draw $70,000, and the same amount will go to Tournament of Roses.

Pittsburgh Pirates have made a deal with Scranton of the New York-Pennsylvania league whereby they will have first call on any players Scranton has to sell to the majors.

Jimmie Dunn and George Lee, Cleveland, visited here yesterday. Dunn is now managing the Shepards, Johnny and Lee. The former weights 135 and the latter 135. Lee has been matched to fight in an Erie ring soon. While here they accompanied Bob Latera to East Brook for the purpose of seeing Howard Kendall, in basketball action against the First Presbyterians. Kendall lives near Wilmington Junction. He is six feet 1 inch tall and weighs 194 pounds. Kendall intends to start training soon under the direction of Latera. He wants to take a whirl at the fight game. He showed a lot of suppleness last night. The game in which East Brook won from Evans City was complete with fast play until the last quarter when East Brook hit their stride and forged ahead of Evans City.

Lou Ambers fought true to form at New York last night, and trounced Frankie Klink of California, in a 10 round bout. Bobby Pacheco, Cleveland, outclassed Leon DelGenio of the Bronx in the same number of rounds.

Led by Robert "Bob" Brest, Ross Bridenbaugh, Straubaugh and "Dud" Perrett, the New Castle High Reserves handed the New Brighton High Reserves a 36 to 19 pasting in the preliminary game last night at Washington high floor. The locals led at the half 20 to 12.

Wampum Defeats Bessemer 28-26

Wampum Takes Fourth Straight Of Season At Bessemer Hi Floor

SCALA WINS GAME IN FINAL MINUTE

Coach Hennon of Wampum High was wearing a smile today that extended from ear to ear and all because of what happened last night at Bessemer High floor, you have probably guessed by now, that Wampum High defeated Bessemer 28 to 26 and that it was the fourth straight victory of the season away from home for the Hennonites.

Incidentally, it was the first time that anyone can remember about a Wampum team defeating Bessemer High at Bessemer, and that was something to be chesty about. Scala saved the day for the Wampums in the final minute last night with a field goal that split the hoops cleanly.

Scala Wins Game
The score was tied up in the final seven minutes of play after Wampum had led all during the game. A field goal by Olsen tied the score. With the score still tied at 26-26, Scala grabbed the ball and plopped it through the hoops just before the gun boomed the end of the game. Scala, incidentally was the high scorer of the game with 10 points. Plumer and Marshall also played fine ball for Wampum, with Young and Olsen the best for the Fredericks.

The Bessemer High girls defeated the Wampum High girls in the preliminary game, Wampum will play at home next Tuesday night with Shenango.

City Golfers To Resume Parties At Municipal Course

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan 4.—Titan fans will see a double-header on the Westminster floor tonight when Coach Lawther's men take on his protégé-coached Youngstown college five, under the direction of Ray Sweeney, and the Titan reserves meet Coach Marsh Fisher's Titusville courtmen.

The feature of the two games will be that the Lawther system of basketball will be exhibited by all four teams, since Coach Fisher, of Titusville high school is a former Titan star guard of the 1931 district championship team and Ray Sweeney, Youngstown college coach, a 1934 varsity forward.

After a long rest from their eastern barnstorming trip, the Titans should be in excellent condition for the game with the Ohioans. The last game of the New York sojourn, against West Chester Teachers at Philadelphia, saw a Titan comeback after two-off days against St. Johns and John Marshall.

Bennett, out in front among the district scorers, with 94 points will probably be closely watched by Sweeney's aggregation, since Coach Sweeney last years running mate with Bennett, knows the Akron boy's bag of shooting tricks.

A new heating system is being installed in the club house, which has practically been completed, and the structure will soon be warm and cozy in the coldest of weather.

The first party will be a sort of house warming affair, other renovations having been made, making the place more modern.

First Of Winter Events Will Take Place In Club House, January 16

Golfers of the city will welcome the announcement that the mid-winter parties, which have been a pleasant diversion for the past few years at the club house of the Municipal Course, will be resumed soon.

The date of Thursday, January 16, has been set for the first party night at the course, and the committee on arrangements will soon announce the program for the evening.

A new heating system is being installed in the club house, which has practically been completed, and the structure will soon be warm and cozy in the coldest of weather.

The first party will be a sort of house warming affair, other renovations having been made, making the place more modern.

QUEEN OF WATER CARNIVAL

Miss Martha Ann Richards, above, attractive freshman at the University of Iowa, rules as queen of the annual water carnival following selection by the university Dolphin club. Miss Richards is from Ottumwa, Ia.

Double-Header On Westminster Floor

Willits, Ford City forwards, who has profited on the scoring while Bennett has been carefully watched, threatens to take the spotlight away from the lanky Ohio forward with his deadly accurate shooting and his novel style of head-balanced shots.

In addition to Willits and Bennett at forwards, Paul Backus, Youngstown boy, will probably take care of the center position with "Swede" Hunneke and John Krivos at the guard posts. Andy Demo Johnston forward, who probed a basket-getter of first string calibre in the absence of Backus will probably get a chance to play most of the game as substitute.

In the curtain-raiser, the Westminster reserves will play their first game of the season on the home floor. The starting lineup will probably include Ralph McGeoch, Cambridge, N. Y., Rauer Meyer, Lowellville, O., Richard Juline, Warren, David Rowlands, Bellevue; and Robert Arrowsmith, Erie.

The opening game between the reserves and Titusville will begin at 7:15 o'clock followed by the Westminster-Youngstown tilt at 8:15. The referees will be Lindsey Montgomery and John Barr, both of Geneva college.

Three Teams In Church AA Loop Battle For Top

First Baptists, Sacred Hearts And Epworth M. E. Win Games Friday

Three teams are fighting for the leadership of the church AA basketball league at the "Y" floor. Last night all three of the topnotchers came through victorious.

The Tifereth Israel team has dropped from the church AA league, leaving seven teams. Action regarding the dropping of the Jewish boys was made Thursday night at a special meeting held at the "Y" by Henry MacNicholas.

The First Baptists last night with Battley, Ridley and "Jake" Lewellyn doing the spotlighting defeated the First Christians. Paul Morrison was the main cog for the First Christians. The Epworth handed the St. Michaels a 25 to 20 reverse with Davis, Nahas and Reed the main guns and Ball and Mackiewicz the best for the losers.

Cunningham May Win Mile Event

Checkup Shows Only About Dozen Good Milers In Entire World

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—A check-up today by Dan Ferris of the A. A. U. discloses the fact there are only a dozen top-flight milers in the whole world.

This is another way of saying there are only eleven men on earth capable of making Glenn Cunningham, the Kansas cyclone, extend himself over the eight furlong route and of these not more than four can be accorded a chance to beat him.

Outlook Bright
Therefore, reasons Dan. Uncle Sam's prospects of winning the 1500 meter Olympic title—the equivalent of the mile—are exceedingly bright. Cunningham's prospective Olympic rivals are Stothard, Reeve, Lovelock and Wooderson of Great Britain; Beccali, Italy's 1500 meter champion in the last Olympics; Schaumburg of Germany, Larva, the Finn; and Bonthron, Venzke, Bright and Sanromano of the U. S. A.

Lovelock, Beccali and Bonthron hold decisions over Cunningham and may repeat at Berlin. Wooderson, who twice has taken Lovelock's measure, must be regarded at least as dangerous as the others.

All eleven men have been invited by Ferris to compete against Cunningham here this winter but all the foreigners were compelled to refuse by their respective athletic associations because of the nearness of the Olympic games.

Beaver Falls Tops Ambridge

Presaging many tough moments for New Castle High when the two teams tangle in a Section Three battle, the Beaver Falls High quintet opened the Section Three season last night at Beaver Falls, by taking a 40 to 19 victory in easy fashion over Ambridge High.

Aliquippa High defeated Ellwood City 39 to 25 at Aliquippa. New Castle bested New Brighton 28 to 15. It looks like another tough sectional fight this year. Butler was idle last night.

East Brook A. A. To Meet Monday

Members of the East Brook A. A. have been called upon to meet at the East Brook high building at 7:30 p. m. Monday by announcement of Edna Waddington. Important business matters will be taken up for discussion. Every member of the association should try and make it a point to attend the meeting scheduled for Monday night.

Polish Falcons Trip P. N. A. Of Beaver Falls, Pa.

Kawa And Koszela Star, Will Play Farrell St. Michael's Tonight Here

The New Castle Polish Falcons handed the Polish National Alliance team of Beaver Falls, Pa., a 40 to 19 setback at the Falcon floor with Russell "Shiek" Kawa and Henry Koszela starring. Tonight the Polish Falcons will play the strong St. Michaels of Farrell at the Falcon hall. The game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The Falcons had the better of the Beaver Falcons the entire way, and at the half led 15 to 9. Kawa and Koszela had five field goals apiece, while Joe Kolojeski found the hoops for three field goals. Ossoski was the best for the valleys.

Pacho, Ambers And Spoldi Win Tournery Bouts

Three Young Men Become Eligible To Meet Tony Canzoneri For Title

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Tony Canzoneri, the champion of the world, today can count on at least three young men to help him along in the matter of fattening his bank roll.

Six ambitious lightweights went into a round-robin, ten round elimination carnival in Madison Square Garden last night and three of them emerged winners.

Bobby Pacho outfought Leonard Del Genio; Lou Ambers got a close verdict over Frankie Klick; and Aldo Spoldi, the lightweight champion of Italy, attended to the task of eliminating Eddie Zivko.

Pacho Looks Good
Tony, on his brilliant, showing against Ambers and Al Roth, real threats, probably can take all six of last night's pretenders and execute a slick paint job on every one of them. Pacho turned in the better performance of the lot by far. He had to fight fiercely to get the "Duke" over spiteful and determined little Leonard Del Genio, once a punching terror among the Simon Pures.

Len was outpunched and outgeneralized by the more experienced Mexican campaigner. Pacho made the pace to suit himself. He slugged when Del Genio slugged, and boxed when Leonard did. Del Genio was floored in the second round with a left and right to the jaw.

Ambers, the Herkimer hurricane, after his long lay-off with a fractured jaw, was as wild as an unbroken Indian pony. He missed woefully, mostly because Klick slipped like an eel under and inside of punches.

Two Games At "Y" Tonight

Two games will be played at the Y. M. C. A. floor tonight, the first game will start at 7:15 and sends the Tin Mill team against the Sacred Hearts of the church league. The second game is between the Castletons and the House Seniors, and it is a league game. The second game will start about 8 o'clock.

STATE INSPECTORS BARE WEIGHT FRAUD

HARRISBURG, Pa.—What was deliberate attempt to defraud the buying public in sales of flour was disclosed today by the Bureau of Standard Weights and Measures in the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs.

Inspectors working in the Philadelphia area and in the other eastern Pennsylvania counties discovered flour, packed by an out-of-State miller, put up in sacks corresponding in size to the familiar twelve-pound sack. However, the sacks were tied close to the top and considerable air space existed between the flour level and the top of the bag. The front of the sack contained no reference to weight, a requirement under Pennsylvania laws. On the bottom of the sacks, however, the weight, nine and three-fourths pounds, appeared. Placed in an upright position and along side of sacks containing twelve pounds, the less weight sacks with the air top appeared to be larger.

Shouse calls it "constructive criticism" of the New Deal. The things it is trying to construct are called skids.

Many groups shout for liberty, but you can't tell what kind they want till you examine their bank rolls.

Finishing Trims Office Quintet In Shelby League

Cole And Ursu Big Guns In Finishing's 35-23 Victory Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 4.—Finishing passers of the Shelby Inter-department basketball league showed that they were out to defend their title in all seriousness with their second decisive victory. Last night at the Shelby auditorium they trimmed the Office 35-23. In the second game of the evening the Cold Draw trounced the Inspection 53-25.

The Office quintet showed potential strength but looked bad in their shots. After running off good plays they missed apparently easy shots. Finishing took an early lead and were never headed although they were closely pressed at times. They played consistent basketball throughout. The score by quarters was 5-1, 14-9, 22-13 and 35-23 for the defending champions.

Cole and Ursu were the big guns in the attack scoring 13 and 12 points respectively. Patterson, Januzzi, and Shirley played a good game for the losers.

With the exception of the first period when the score was 10-6 in their favor, the Cold Draw had things much their own way. Combined with a fast passing attack and accurate shooting they were hard to stop. Sheeler and Ferucci had a field night registering 17 and 12 points respectively. Clyde, Ugham, and MacMurdo also figured in the attack. The score at the end of the half was 20-8, at the end of the third quarter 29-14, and final 53-25. In this period the Cold Draw clicked on all six cylinders. Tony Litanio was the outstanding performer for the Inspection.

Neutrality Bill Designed Solely To Prevent War

Only Aim Is To Keep U. S.
Out Of War, Says State
Department Official

By J. KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The administration's new neutrality bill, introduced in both houses of congress today, is designed solely to keep this country out of foreign wars, and not to enable it to join the League of Nations in economic warfare against any single nation. This explanation of the most far-reaching neutrality measure in the history of this country was given by a high-ranking state department official shortly after submission of the measure to congress.

This government, it was stated, has no intention of making any comment to the League of Nations or any foreign power to engage in economic warfare, or take any other one-sided action against any nation which the league may brand an aggressor.

Its neutrality policy is designed solely to keep this country out of war, and in carrying out this policy it intends to act independently of the rest of the world.

High ranking officials further-more served notice on Europe that the offer made by Ambassador Norman H. Davis at Geneva in 1933, whereby this government would "refrain from any action tending to defeat" the collective action of the league, or other powers, against an aggressor, does not represent a commitment on the part of this government.

That offer, it was said, was pre-dicated upon the rest of the world agreeing to drastic disarmament, and it still remains contingent upon such an agreement.

Another world war would destroy our form of civilization, but that's all you can say for it.

Dear Brother Lion:

We are going to make use again of one of our local members in the person of George L. Smith. He has gained considerable of a reputation lately as an after-dinner speaker. His subject Tuesday will be "How Polly Ticks in Lawrence County." This speech promises to be a masterpiece.

We would like to have every Lion present at our first meeting of the new year.

Plebian Vote Sought By Dems

Roosevelt Camp Abandons
Hope Of Winning Support Of Business

MORE VOTES ARE HELD BY MASSES

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Roosevelt leadership, it is rumored, practically has abandoned hope of winning business' support of its presidential candidate at the coming election, but is concentrating upon the task of capturing almost the solid vote of the commonest of the common people.

Business is improving but business men don't seem to thank the administration for it. Contrariwise, the more it improves, the more, apparently, they resent government interference with their efforts to make the most of the improvement.

The White House, from all accounts, has about arrived at the conclusion that folk like the members of the American Liberty league, the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers are irreconcilable in their attitude toward New Deal policies.

But, after all, agriculture and the industrial masses are in a vast majority over the select element of the voters. If President Roosevelt can consolidate such a bulk of the electorate under his banner, he can do without the comparative few intransigents.

HOWE ON JOB AGAIN

This line of reasoning is said to be, not so much Democratic National Chairman (and Postmaster General) Charles A. Farley's, as Colonel Louis McHenry Howe's.

The colonel, chief White House secretary and most trusted presidential adviser, has sufficiently recovered from his illness of the last few months to be devoting an hour or two a day to 1936 campaign strategy. The story is that he thinks Farley has bungled.

It is a fact that Farley made some bad predictions concerning local elections of 1935, notably in New York and Pennsylvania. The Democrats lost where he said they would win.

Recent straw polls have taken an anti-New Deal direction. They may have no real significance, but they are poor Democratic propaganda.

Howe also is understood to regret that the "brain trust" ever was allowed to be tagged onto the administration. Not much of it is left now, but it continues to be advertised.

The colonel is doing his best to counteract the effects of what he considers such errors.

House Feminine Bloc Will Battle For "Pet" Measures

One Congresswoman Would Transfer Relief Work To Red Cross

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Members of House Feminine Bloc returned to their duties Friday prepared to battle for favorable consideration of their "pet" bills.

Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers (R) of Massachusetts appeared at the opening ceremonies attired in dark brown and wearing an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Rogers said she will offer a measure transferring all federal works relief activities to the Red Cross.

"This is the proper agency to handle this important matter," she said.

Mrs. Virginia Jenckes (D) Indiana, attractively garbed in satin, trimmed with a rose corsage, said she seeks a congressional investigation into communist activities in the nation's public school system.

"This movement is growing alarmingly," she declared.

Other women members at the inaugural were Mrs. Caroline O'Day, (D) New York and Mrs. Florence P. Kahn (R) California.

Mrs. Greenway (D) California and Mrs. Mary T. Norton (D) New Jersey, were not on the floor Friday as the session got under way.

POWER BEHIND HIM

Now, Lewis, as head of the United Mine Workers, might reasonably be expected to hold the voting balance of power in Pennsylvania and West Virginia; to be strong in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Iowa, Kansas and western Maryland; to weigh in Colorado and Montana, which are mining states.

Moreover he is the apostle of industrial unionism—not only the miners; the automobile workers, the rubber workers, the radio workers, the cement workers, the aluminum workers; in fact, all hitherto unorganized trades. The masses!

He should cast the Socialist vote. He's in conflict with the American Federation of America, certainly. But the A. F. of L., an alliance of crafts, has a membership of approximately 4,000,000. Lewis looks toward an alliance of nearly 40,000,000. And there is nothing intrinsically antagonistic between his program and the farmers'.

GARNER'S "HEALTH"

But what to do with Garner? The administration would like to have him back in the house of representatives.

Of course, he would insist on being speaker. Speaker Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee naturally wouldn't agree to give place to him.

If Garner waives his future vice presidential chances, the assumption is that it will be "on account of his health." No one is rash enough to believe that, if his health fails, it will be otherwise than in favor of something else pretty good.

Garner is a problem to be reckoned with at the next Democratic national convention.

"This movement is growing alarmingly," she declared.

Other women members at the inaugural were Mrs. Caroline O'Day, (D) New York and Mrs. Florence P. Kahn (R) California.

Mrs. Greenway (D) California and Mrs. Mary T. Norton (D) New Jersey, were not on the floor Friday as the session got under way.

POWER BEHIND HIM

Now, Lewis, as head of the United Mine Workers, might reasonably be expected to hold the voting balance of power in Pennsylvania and West Virginia; to be strong in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Iowa, Kansas and western Maryland; to weigh in Colorado and Montana, which are mining states.

Moreover he is the apostle of industrial unionism—not only the miners; the automobile workers, the rubber workers, the radio workers, the cement workers, the aluminum workers; in fact, all hitherto unorganized trades. The masses!

He should cast the Socialist vote. He's in conflict with the American Federation of America, certainly. But the A. F. of L., an alliance of crafts, has a membership of approximately 4,000,000. Lewis looks toward an alliance of nearly 40,000,000. And there is nothing intrinsically antagonistic between his program and the farmers'.

GARNER'S "HEALTH"

But what to do with Garner? The administration would like to have him back in the house of representatives.

Of course, he would insist on being speaker. Speaker Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee naturally wouldn't agree to give place to him.

If Garner waives his future vice presidential chances, the assumption is that it will be "on account of his health." No one is rash enough to believe that, if his health fails, it will be otherwise than in favor of something else pretty good.

Garner is a problem to be reckoned with at the next Democratic national convention.

AROUND CITY HALL

Reports are current that Mayor-elect Charles McGrath and Councilmen-elect J. L. Fink and J. M. Rice met yesterday afternoon. It is reported that they discussed their coming inauguration. Whether or not they discussed who will and will not stay on the city payroll is unknown. The secretiveness of the trio has a lot worried. There are several who seemed quite sure of berths a week ago, who now are on the worried list. Everything the incoming officials do now is of concern to the public. Naturally the public is anxious to know what the officials intend to do. Some people profess to know and some of those, whom others believe should know, claim they are ignorant of what the incoming officials plan to do. From now until they come out flat-footed and make decisions there will be rumors. For instance there is talk concerning the city solicitor's office, assessing department, garbage bureau, police department, motor mechanic's bureau, fire department and health bureau. There will probably be one or two appointments Monday. If not, they will be made shortly afterward. The public can expect changes.

Council opened bids for chlorine during their session yesterday. The bids were referred to the purchasing agent and the city engineering for checking. No contract will be made by the present council. The chlorine prices showed it could be obtained much cheaper if bought in large quantities.

Bell Telephone company requested and received permission from council to lay an underground conduit from Apple alley to the old Post Office building which is used by the Works Progress administration. The plans were approved by the city engineer.

Contract between the city and Continental Casualty company was approved by the city with reservations yesterday. Some of the provisions of the forms used by insurance companies in Pennsylvania are believed unconstitutional and are before the U. S. court for adjudication. In approving the contract the city in a resolution attached thereto, said the city reserves the right to raise the question of constitutionality and legality of the provisions.

Years ago an insurance company raised the rates after the city signed and the city now is involved in a law suit.

Final approval for the paving of the A. program, the first of three (the other two having been held up) has been sent by the WPA to the city. The work will not be done until spring. However, the streets which will be curbed and paved are as follows: Raymond street, Butler avenue to Oak street; Leisure avenue, Wilmington avenue to Mercer street; Garfield avenue, Wilmington avenue to Albert street; Englewood avenue, Mercer street to Highland street; Summer avenue, Carlisle street to Highland avenue; Hazle-croft avenue, Carlisle street to Mercer street; Fairfield avenue, Mercer street to Carlisle street and Charles street, Moravia street to Morris street.

Progress of manners: 1900, "I beg your pardon"; 1915, "Sorry"; now, "Excuse it, please."

The nobody has one advantage. When he says something clever, nobody thinks his ghost-writer did it.

MERCER COUNTY CRIME DECREASES

MERCER, Jan. 4.—Crime has been steadily decreasing in Mercer county for the past three years, County Detective S. R. Leshock states, less crime having been reported each year since 1932. Over half the crimes committed during 1935 were breaking and entering. At the same time, there has been a notable increase in arrests for driving while intoxicated.

The Reason Why

Because

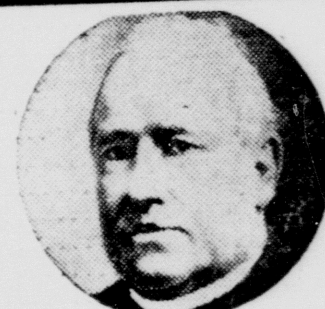

Father John's Medicine is not "just another cold remedy" but for 80 years a proven treatment for colds, coughs due to colds and bronchial irritations, it is Important to Know:—

In addition, it is a body builder that aids in building sturdy resistance to the germs of colds and other infections.

Proof:—

Clinical tests by Dr. Frederic Damrau, New York, proved that it shortened the duration of colds in 93 per cent of cases. Could any proof be more convincing?
